Conclusion:

And so I have tried to give you a bird's-eye view of a very interesting period in the history of English literature. Much of the thought, many of the codes, manners, and beliefs ^{of} that period have vanished. We wonder today at its slavish adherence to appearances, at the humorless tone of general-ity, at the inhuman attitude to workpeople, at the arrogance & complacency of the first half of the nineteenth century.

Conclusion (continued)

But much of the literature of that period is enduring.
~~Great~~ ^{Great} was of beauty, of Keats,
the proud rebellion of Byron, the high courage
of the Brontës, the exuberance of Dickens, the music of Tennyson, the reforming zeal of many of the poets - novelists -
There are great heritages.
They are in our blood.
They are part of the true life of English speaking people & have their influence on our minds & hearts to this day.
